THE Numb. 360.

MARTLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the freſheſt Advices foreign and domeſtic.

THURSDAY, March 19, 1752.

From the OECONOMY of HUMAN LIFE.

WOMAN.

GIVE Ear, fair Daughter of Love, to the Inſtructions of Prudence, and let the Precepts of Truth ſink deep in thine Heart: So ſhall the Charms of thy Mind add Luſtre to the Elegance of thy Form; and thy Beauty, like the Roſe it reſembleth, ſhall retain it's Sweetneſs when it's Bloom is withered.

In the Spring of thy Youth, in the Morning of thy Days, when the Eyes of Men gaze on thee with Delight, and Nature whiſpereth in thine Ear the Meaning of their Looks; ah! hear with Caution their ſeducing Words, guard well thy Heart, nor liſten to their ſoft Perſuaſions.

Remember, thou art made Man's reaſonable Companion, not the Slave of his Paſſion; the End of thy Being is not merely to gratify his looſe Deſire, but to aſſiſt him in the Toils of Life, to ſooth him with thy Tenderneſs, and recompenſe his Care with ſoft Endearments.

Who is ſhe that winneth the Heart of Man, that ſubdueth him to Love, and reigneth in his Breaſt? Lo! yonder ſhe walketh in Maiden Sweetneſs, with Innocence in her Mind, and Modeſty on her Cheek.

Her Hand ſeeketh Employment, her Foot delighteth not in gadding abroad.

She is cloathed with Neatneſs, ſhe is fed with Temperance; Humility and Meekneſs are as a Crown of Glory circling her Head.

On her Tongue dwelleth Muſic, the Sweetneſs of Honey floweth from her Lips.

Decency is in all her Words, in her Anſwers are Mildneſs and Truth.

Submiſſion and Obedience are the Leſſons of her Life, and Peace and Happineſs are her Reward.

Her Eye ſpeaketh Softneſs and Love; but Diſcretion with a Sceptre ſitteth on her Brow.

The Tongue of the licentious is dumb in her Preſence, the Awe of her Virtue keepeth him ſilent.

When Scandal is buſy, and the Fame of her Neighbour is toſſed from Tongue to Tongue, if Charity and good Nature open not her Mouth, the Finger of Silence reſteth on her Lip.

Her Breaſt is the Manſion of Goodneſs, and therefore ſhe ſuſpecteth no Evil in others.

Happy were the Man that ſhould make her his Wife, happy the Child, that ſhall call her Mother.

She preſideth in the Houſe, and there is Peace; ſhe commandeth with Judgment, and is obeyed.

She ariſeth in the Morning, ſhe conſiders her Affairs, and appointeth to every one their proper Buſineſs.

The Care of her Family is her whole Delight, to that alone ſhe applieth her Study; and Elegance with Frugality is ſeen in her Manſions.

The Prudence of her Management is an Honour to her Huſband, and he heareth her Praiſe with a ſecret Delight.

She informeth the Minds of her Children with Wiſdom, ſhe faſhioneth their Manners in Goodneſs, by her own Example.

The Word of her Mouth is the Law of their Youth, the Motion of her Eye commandeth their Obedience.

She ſpeaketh and her Servants fly; ſhe pointeth and the Thing is done: For the Law of Love is in their Hearts. Her Kindneſs addeth Wings to their Feet.

In Proſperity ſhe is not puffed up: In Adverſity ſhe healeth the Wounds of Fortune with Patience.

The Troubles of her Huſband are alleviated by her Counſels, and ſweetened by her Endearments: He putteth his Heart in her Boſom, and receiveth Comfort.

Happy is the Man that hath made her his Wife, happy the Child that calleth her Mother.

HUSBAND.

Take unto thyſelf a Wife, and obey the Ordinance of God; take unto thyſelf a Wife, and become a faithful Member of Society.

But examine with Care, and fix not ſuddenly; on thy preſent Choice depends the future Happineſs of thee and thy Poſterity.

If much of her Time is deſtroy'd in Dreſs and Adornments; if ſhe is enamour'd with her own Beauty, and delighted with her own Praiſe; if ſhe laugheth much, and talketh loud; if her Foot abideth not in her Father's Houſe, and her Eyes with Boldneſs rove on the Faces of Men; though her Beauty were as the Sun in the Firmament of Heaven, turn thy Face from her Charms, turn thy Feet from her Paths, and ſuffer not thy Soul to be enſnared by the Allurements of thy Imagination.

But when thou findeſt Senſibility of Heart, join'd with Softneſs of Manners; an accompliſh'd Mind, with a Form agreeable to thy Fancy; take her home to thy Houſe, ſhe is worthy to be thy Friend, thy Companion in Life, the Wife of thy Boſom.

O cheriſh her as a Bleſſing, ſent thee from Heaven; let the Kindneſs of thy Behaviour endear thee to her Heart.

She is the Miſtreſs of thy Houſe; treat her therefore with Reſpect, that thy Servants may obey her.

Oppoſe not her Inclination without Cauſe; ſhe is the Partner of thy Cares, make her alſo the Companion of thy Pleaſures.

Reprove her Faults with Gentleneſs, exact not her Obedience with Rigour.

Truſt thy Secrets in her Breaſt, her Counſels are ſincere, thou ſhalt not be deceived.

Be faithful to her Bed; for ſhe is the Mother of thy Children.

When Pain and Sickneſs aſſault her, let thy Tenderneſs ſooth her Affliction: A Look from thee of Pity and Love, ſhall alleviate her Grief, or mitigate her Pains; and be of more Avail than ten Phyſicians.

Conſider the Delicacy of her Sex, the Tenderneſs of her Frame; and be not ſevere to her Weakneſs, but remember thine own Imperfections.

FATHER.

Conſider, thou who art a Parent, the Importance of thy Truſt; the Being thou haſt produc'd it is thy Duty to ſupport.

Upon thee alſo it dependeth whether the Child of thy Boſom ſhall be a Bleſſing, or a Curſe to thyſelf; a uſeful or a worthleſs Member to the Community.

Prepare him early with Inſtruction, and ſeaſon his Mind with the Maxims of Truth.

Watch the Bent of his Inclination, ſet him right in his Youth, and let no evil Habit gain Strength with his Years.

So ſhall he riſe like a Cedar on the Mountains; his Head ſhall be ſeen above the Trees of the Foreſt.

A wicked Son is a Reproach to his Father, but he that doth right is an Honour to his grey Hairs.

The Soil is thine own, let it not want Cultivation; the Seed which thou ſoweſt, that alſo ſhalt thou reap.

Teach him Obedience, and he ſhall bleſs thee; teach him Modeſty, and he ſhall not be aſhamed.

Teach him Gratitude, and he ſhall receive Benefits; teach him Charity, and he ſhall gain Love.

Teach him Temperance, and he ſhall have Health; teach him Prudence, and Fortune ſhall attend him.

Teach him Juſtice, and he ſhall be honoured by the World; teach him Sincerity, and his own Heart ſhall not reproach him.

Teach him Diligence, and his Wealth ſhall increaſe; teach him Benevolence, and his Mind ſhall be exalted.

Teach him Science, and his Life ſhall be uſeful; teach him Religion, and his Death ſhall be happy.

SON.

From the Creatures of God let Man learn Wiſdom; and apply to himſelf the Inſtruction they give.

Go to the Deſart, my Son, obſerve the young Stork of the Wilderneſs, let him ſpeak to thy Heart; he beareth on his Wings his aged Sire, he lodgeth him in Safety, and ſupplieth him with Food.

The Piety of a Child is ſweeter than the Incenſe of Perſia offer'd to the Sun: Yea more delicious than Odours wafted from a Field of Arabian Spices, by the Weſtern Gales.

Be grateful then to thy Father, for he gave thee Life; and to thy Mother, for ſhe ſuſtained thee.

Hear the Words of his Mouth, for they are ſpoken for thy Good; give Ear to his Admonition, for it proceedeth from Love.

He hath watched for thy Welfare, he hath toiled for thy Eaſe; do honour therefore to his Age, and let not his grey Hairs be treated with Irreverence.

Think on thy helpleſs Infancy, and the Frowardneſs of thy Youth; and indulge the Infirmities of thy aged Parents, aſſiſt and ſupport them in the Decline of Life.

So ſhall their hoary Heads go down to the Grave in Peace: And thine own Children, in Reverence of thy Example, ſhall repay thy Piety with filial Love.

BROTHERS.

Ye are the Children of one Father, provided for by his Care; and the Breaſt of one Mother hath given you Suck.

Let the Bonds of Affection, therefore, unite thee with thy Brothers, that Peace and Happineſs may dwell in thy Father's Houſe.

And when ye ſeparate in the World, remember the Relation that bindeth you to Love and Unity; and prefer not a Stranger before thine own Blood.

If thy Brother is in Adverſity, aſſiſt him; if thy Siſter is in Trouble, forſake her not.

So ſhall the Fortunes of thy Father contribute to the Support of his whole Race; and his Care be continued to you all, in your Love to each other.

The following maſterly Precepts, drawn by the Lord Burleigh, one of the greateſt and wiſeſt Men of the Age he lived in, for the Inſtruction of his Son, are ſo full of uſeful and noble Sentiments, and ſo little known to the Generality of Readers, that they muſt certainly be thought deſerving a Place in this Paper.

I. WHEN it ſhall pleaſe God to bring thee to Man's Eſtate, uſe great Providence and Circumſpection in chuſing thy Wife: For from thence will ſpring all thy future Good or Evil; and it is an Action of Life, like to a ſtratagem of War, wherein a Man can err but once. If thy Eſtate be good, match near home and at Leiſure; if weak, far off and quickly. Enquire diligently of her Diſpoſition, and how her Parents have been inclined in their Youth. Let her not be poor, how generous ſoever: For a Man can buy nothing in the Market with Gentility: Nor chuſe a baſe and uncomely Creature altogether for Wealth; for it will cauſe Contempt in others, and Loathing in thee. Neither make Choice of a Dwarf or a Fool; for by the one thou ſhalt beget a Race of Pygmies; and the other will be thy continual Diſgrace; and it will hurt thee to hear her talk: For thou ſhalt find it to thy Grief, there is nothing more fulſome than a She Fool.

And touching the Guiding of thy Houſe, let thy Hoſpitality be moderate, and according to the Means of thy Eſtate, rather plentiful than ſparing, not coſtly. For I never knew any Man grow poor by keeping an orderly Table. But ſome conſume themſelves through ſecret Vices, and their Hoſpitality bears the Blame. But baniſh ſwiniſh Drunkards out of thy Houſe, which is a Vice impairing Health, conſuming much, and makes no Shew.

I never

I never heard Praiſe aſcribed to the Drunkard, but for the well bearing his Drink; which is better Commendation for a Brewer's Horſe or a Dray-man, than a Gentleman. Beware thou ſpend not above three Fourths of thy Revenue, nor above a third Part of that in thy Houſe, for the other two Parts will do no more than defray thy Extraordinaries, which always ſurmount the Ordinaries by much; otherwiſe thou ſhalt live like a rich Begger, in continual Want. And the needy Man can never live happily or contentedly; for every Diſaſter makes him ready to mortgage or ſell: And that Gentleman who ſells an Acre of Land ſells an Ounce of Credit; for Gentility is nothing elſe than antient Riches. So that if the Foundation ſhould at any Time ſink, the Building muſt needs follow.

II. Bring thy Children up in Learning and Obedience, yet without outward Auſterity. Praiſe them openly, reprehend them ſecretly. Give them good Countenance and convenient Maintainance, according to thy Ability, otherwiſe thy Life will ſeem their Bondage, and what Portion thou ſhalt leave them at thy Death, they will thank Death for, and not thee. I am perſuaded the fooliſh Cockering of ſome Parents, and the over ſtern Carriage of others, cauſeth more Men and Women to take ill Courſes than their own vicious Inclinations. Marry thy Daughters in time, leſt they marry themſelves; and ſuffer not thy Sons to paſs the Alps; for they ſhall learn nothing there but Pride, Blaſphemy, and Atheiſm. And if by Travel they ſhall get a few broken Languages, they ſhall profit them nothing more than to have one Meal ſerv'd in divers Diſhes. Neither, by my Conſent ſhall thou train them up in Wars; for he that ſeeks up his Reſt to live by that Profeſſion, can hardly be an honeſt Man, or a good Chriſtian; becauſe it is a Science no longer in Requeſt than Uſe; for Soldiers in Peace are like Chimneys in Summer.

III. Live not in the Country without Corn and Cattle about thee; for he that putteth his Hand to the Purſe for every Expence of Houſhold, is like him that keepeth Water in a Sieve; and what Proviſion thou ſhalt want, learn to buy it at the beſt hand, for there is one Penny ſaved in four, betwixt buying in thy Need, and when the Market and Seaſons ſerve fitteſt for it. Be not ſerved with Kinſmen or Friends; for they expect much and do little: Nor with ſuch as are amorous, for their Heads are intoxicated; and keep rather too few than too many. Feed them well and pay with the moſt, and then thou mayeſt boldly require Service at their Hands.

IV. Let thy Kindred and Allies be welcome at thy Houſe and Table. Grace them with thy Countenance, and further them in all honeſt Actions; for by this Means thou ſhalt ſo double the Band of Nature as thou ſhalt find them ſo many Advocates to plead an Apology for thee behind thy Back: But ſhake of thoſe Glow-worms, Parafites, and Sycophants, who will feed and fawn upon thee in the Summer of Proſperity, but in an adverſe Storm, they will ſhelter thee no more than an Arbour in Winter.

V. Beware of thy Suretyſhip for thy beſt Friends. He that payeth another Man's Debts, ſeeketh his own Decay. But if thou can'ſt not otherwiſe chuſe, rather lend thy Money thyſelf upon good Bonds, although thou borrow it, ſo ſhalt thou ſecure thyſelf and pleaſure thy Friend: Neither borrow Money of a Neighbour or a Friend, but of a Stranger, where paying for it thou ſhalt hear no more of it, otherwiſe thou ſhalt eclipſe thy Credit, loſe thy Freedom, and yet pay as dear as to another. But in borrowing of Money be precious of thy Word, for he that hath Care of Days of Payment is Lord of another Man's Purſe.

VI. Undertake no Suit againſt a Poor Man without receiving much Wrong; for beſides that thou makeſt him thy Compere, it is a baſe Conqueſt to triumph where there is ſmall Reſiſtance. Neither attempt Law againſt any Man before thou be fully reſolved that thou haſt Right on thy Side, and then ſpare not for either Money or Pains; for a Cauſe or two ſo followed and obtained, will free thee from Suits a great Part of thy Life.

VII. Be ſure to keep ſome great Man thy Friend; but trouble him not for Trifles. Compliment him often with many, yet ſmall Gifts, and of little Charge: And if thou haſt cauſe to beſtow any great Gratuity, let it be ſomething that may be daily in Sight; otherwiſe, in this ambitious Age, thou ſhalt remain like a Hop without a Pole, and be made a Foot Ball for every inſulting Companion to ſpurn at.

VIII. Towards thy Superiors be humble, yet generous; with thine Equals familiar, yet reſpectful. Towards thy Inferiors ſhew much Humanity, and ſome Familiarity. The firſt prepares thy Way to Advancement; the ſecond makes thee known for a Man well bred; the third gains a good Report, which once got is eaſily kept: For right Humanity takes ſuch deep Root in the Minds of the Multitude, that they are more eaſily gained by unprofitable Courteſies, than by churliſh Benefits. Yet I adviſe thee not to affect Popularity too much, ſeek not to be Eſteem'd ſhun to be Raleigh.

IX. Truſt not any Man with thy Life, Credit, or Eſtate; for it is mere Folly for a Man to enthrall himſelf to his Friend, as though Occaſion being offered, he ſhould not dare to become the Enemy.

X. Be not ſcurrilous in Converſation, nor ſatirical in thy Jeſts; the one will make thee unwelcome to all Company; the other draw on Quarrels, and get the Hatred of thy beſt Friends: For ſuſpicious Jeſts, when any of them favour of Truth, leave a Bitterneſs in the Minds of thoſe who are touched. And though I have already pointed at this incluſively, yet I think it neceſſary to leave it thee as a ſpecial Caution; becauſe I have ſeen ſo many prone to quip and gird, that they would rather loſe their Friend than their Jeſt: and if by Chance their boiling Brains yield a quaint Scoff, they will travail to be delivered of it as a Woman with Child; ſuch nimble Fancies are but the Froth of Wit.

TRIPOLI, October 2.

IN Conſequence of the Peace which Commodore Keppel has renewed here, between the King of Great Britain and this Regency, the Dey has wrote a Letter to his Britannic Majeſty, the Purport of which is as follows:

To the moſt Auguſt and Invincible Monarch and Emperor of the Britiſh Nation.

"With the ſincereſt Joy we have ſeen the moſt Sage and Honourable Keppel, Commandant of your Majeſty's Ships, arrive here. He imparted to us your Majeſty's Intention to renew the Peace and Friendſhip between you and our Regency. This Affair having been propoſed in our laudable and enlighten'd Divan, all the Members thereof were unanimouſly of Opinion, that it was good and expedient to renew this Peace, becauſe the Engliſh being antient Friends of this State, it was fit to give them Proofs of our reciprocal Inclination to cement Friendſhip with them. Thus the Treaty having been renewed, we expreſly ordered our Captains, charged to maintain the Glory of our Flag, to treat as Friends all the Ships of the Britiſh Nation which they ſhall meet with; to abſtain eſpecially from giving them any Trouble or Uneaſineſs, and to be very careful of not ſtopping or detaining them without a Cauſe, after the ſaid Ships ſhall have duly complied with what is required by Treaties, in ſuch Caſes as when our Ships, being in queſt of our Enemies, meet with Veſſels belonging to Nations in Friendſhip with us. It is our unfeigned Deſire to perform ingenuouſly, and without Reſervation, the Word and Promiſe we give to our Friends, particularly to ſuch whoſe Friendſhip is ſo antient as your Majeſty's. We will be ſedulous to preſerve and increaſe that Friendſhip, and be diligent in removing all Obſtacles thereto: For it is with the ſtricteſt Regard to Truth that we lay theſe Aſſurances before your Majeſty's Throne, that they may be a Guarance and certain Proof of our real and irrevocable Sentiments, &c."

Tunis, Oct. 6. Mr. Keppel, Commodore of the Engliſh Squadron in the Mediterranean, caſt Anchor about a Fortnight ago, in this Harbour, being come to treat about a Renewal of the Peace between this Regency and the Crown of Great Britain, and as he had already done at Algiers and Tripoli. He was received with a Salute from the Cannon of the Caſtles, and other Marks of the greateſt Reſpect. The Renewal of the Peace having been afterwards propoſed to the Divan, the Baſhaw, the Chiefs of the Regency, and all the Officers of the Army, unanimouſly agreed to it.

Tunis, Oct. 8. In the Treaty of Peace and Navigation, which this State has juſt renewed with the King of Great Britain, it is ſtipulated among other Things, that the Engliſh Packet Boats ſhall be provided with Commiſſions from his Britannic Majeſty; that the Crews of Ships belonging to Port Mahon and Gibraltar muſt be two Thirds Natives of thoſe Ports, and the Reſt may be Foreigners; but if there be a greater Number of the latter, they ſhall be made Slaves, if met with by the Tuniſians. However, it is ſuppoſed, that this Article will not be rigorouſly executed: It is rather to be preſumed, that by Seamen, Natives of Gibraltar and Port-Mahon, Natives of England will alſo be underſtood.

Two Ships are daily expected here, to treat about Peace with the King of Dermark, to which the Regency does not ſeem averſe, but it is reſolved to make the moſt Friend of it; ſo that the Danes muſt expect to come down to large Supplies of Naval Stores, &c.

Genoa, Sept. 28. By Letters from Baſtia, of the 16th inſtant, there is Advice, that ſome Heaths having taken Fire in Corſica, the Flames ſpread to the adjacent Woods, and in ſpight of all the Endeavours of the Country People, conſumed all the Trees, Villages and Hamlets, in a Tract of Land about 40 Miles in Length. The ſame Letters take Notice, that the Marquis de Cuſtay was returned to Baſtia, after having pacified the Inhabitants of the Pieve of Niolo, but ſet out again in order to diſtribute the French Troops into Winter Quarters on both Sides of the Mountains.

Genoa, Nov. 20. The Captain of a Dutch Ship, arrived here lately from Cadiz, reports, that he met off Malaga, with four Spaniſh Frigates that were cruizing there, with a Deſign, as he imagined, to intercept two Ships loaded with Artillery and other warlike Stores, which the Magiſtrates of the City of Hamburgh ſent as a Preſent to the Emperor of Morocco.

Madrid, Nov. 20. On Wedneſday laſt was publiſhed an Edict of his Majeſty, by Virtue whereof, all Foreigners, of what Nation ſoever, without the leaſt Reſtriction or Reſerve, who were then reſident, not only in our Capital, but in any City or Town within his Majeſty's Dominions, are enjoined to withdraw from their reſpective Places of Abodes, within the Space of three Days; and in caſe any Perſon whomſoever ſhall preſume to neglect the Prohibition above-mentioned, and ſhall be diſcovered, from and after the Expiration of the ſaid Term of three Days, to be computed from the Day of the Date of the ſaid Decree, ſuch Delinquent ſhall be ſentenced to work five Years ſucceſſively in the Gallies without Redemption.

The Publication of this wholeſome, tho' ſomewhat ſevere Decree, has anſwered the wiſh'd for End to all Intents and Purpoſes; for thereby we have got rid of a Swarm of Vagabonds who have been guilty of Villanies.

LONDON.

An Extract of a Letter from the Hague, dated Nov. 18.

"His Britannic Majeſty perceiving the Neceſſity, from the unexpected Death of his Son, the late Prince of Wales, and his Son-in-Law, our late Stadtholder, of taking timely Meaſures againſt the Incertitude of Events, has wiſely foreſeen that her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs might poſſibly, before the young Stadtholder ſhould be Major, follow the Prince her Conſort; his Majeſty has therefore judged, that it would be highly the Intereſt of the Republic, as well as that of Great Britain, its natural Ally, that Precautions ſhould be taken againſt an Event of that Nature; and that no better could be taken than that of nominating the Perſons who, in ſuch Caſe, ſhould ſucceed in the Tutelage of the young Stadtholder, and eſtabliſhing a good Council of Regency, with the Concurrence of the States General, and the States of the reſpective Provinces; ſo that ſuch Nomination ſhould, with all Expedition, paſs into a Law. To effect this Salutary Deſign was ſent over a Miniſter of high Quality, and great Abilities, a ſort of Hercules, who went to give the Death Blow to that Hydra, which has conſtantly revived with the Blood of the Loveſtein Faction. The coming of this Miniſter could not fail of being agreeable to her Royal Highneſs, and to the well-affected Regency, who muſt neceſſarily approve of the Plan he was charged with, as it manifeſtly tended to ſtrengthen the Bands of the Union which ſubſiſts between Great Britain and the Republic. The Council of his Majeſty having been followed, an Ambaſſador will, 'tis expected, ſoon be ſent over, who ſhall be agreeable to the State, to conduct this Affair."

Extract of a Letter from a Perſon of Diſtinction at Hamburgh, dated Nov. 16.

"Our laſt Letters from France bring a ſurprizing Piece of News: Who could have believed, that in a Nation whoſe Syſtem is paſſive Obedience, in the moſt extenſive Senſe, and who loves, that is ſaying too little, who adores its King, there ſhould be People capable of an Attempt like that which has actually been committed in the Apartment of the Duke of Burgundy, at a Time too when all France was employed in returning Thanks to Heaven for the Birth of that Prince, ſo univerſally wiſhed for; an unknown Hand put into the Duke's Cradle, a Packet which contained Matter, that had it not been quickly diſcovered, would have had a fatal Effect upon the Life of that Infant Prince: Some Paſquinades were likewiſe found there. Madam de Sauve, the Duke's Woman of the Bed Chamber, being ſuſpected to be an Accomplice with the wicked Perſons who made this Attempt, was arreſted, and ſent to the Baſtile, where whence she poisoned herself: Her Maids have been sent to the same Prison. The Public are impatient to know what Discovery the Court will make in this Affair."

December 19. On Tuesday last died at Stapleham-Lodge, in his Road from Bath to Hampton, in the 76th Year of his Age, Sir William Gooch, Bart. (formerly Lieutenant-Governor of Virginia). His Title and Estate devolves to the Right Rev. Dr. Gooch, Bishop of Ely.

Dec. 21. Yesterday an Express arrived at St. James's, with the melancholy Account of the Death of her Majesty Louisa Queen of Denmark, youngest Daughter of our most gracious Sovereign King GEORGE the Second: Her Majesty was far advanced in her Pregnancy, and her Death is said to have been caused by her hastily stooping, whereby she was instantly sensible of having hurt herself. She was born Dec. 7, 1724, and was married to Frederick, the present King of Denmark, Nov. 30, 1743. And has left Issue one Prince and three Princesses;

1. Princess Sophia Magdalen, born July 3, 1746.
2. Princess Wilhelmina Carolina, born July 10, 1747.
3. Prince Christian, born January 29, 1748|9.
4. Princess Louisa, born January 30, 1749|50.

Charles Town, in South Carolina, December 13.

Last Night arrived here the Sloop Kingston, Capt. Whitefield, bound from Jamaica for Philadelphia, but drove in the late Hurricane out of Black River to Sea, and obliged to put into Havanna, which Place she left 16 Days ago. By this Vessel we have Advice, that several English Vessels were lost in that Hurricane on Cuba; and that his Majesty's Ship Prince Henry, of 40 Guns, Capt. Jasper, bound from Jamaica for England, had put into the Havanna, having in the said Hurricane lost her Masts, and received other Damage; till whose Arrival, all the Englishmen belonging to the Vessels cast away, were by the kind Spaniards imprisoned in their Forts and Goals.

January 10. On the 3d Instant, put into this Port, in Distress, the Brig Swallow, Capt. Riorden, of and for Boston, from the Bay of Honduras.

February 1. The Master of a Vessel arrived here Yesterday from Jamaica, informs us, That he was taken in the Windward Passage by two Spanish Guarda Costas, who searched him, but finding no Money, dismissed him again: He heard they had cruized there some Time, had already taken several Vessels, and have Orders to seize every English Vessel that has to the Value of ten Dollars in Spanish Coin on board. ['Tis observable, That whenever any Searches or Seizures have been made by the Spaniards, of any Vessel belonging to the Dutch, the Governors of their Colonies in America, immediately grant Letters of Marque and Reprizal to the Injured, who thereby are enabled to obtain Restitution, without going through the numerous Forms, and exposing themselves to as numerous Difficulties and Disappointments, that attend Complaints on such Occasions, to the Court of Madrid.]

Newport, in Rhode-Island, February 14.

Last Saturday arrived here Capt. Campbell, in 13 Weeks from London. On the 22d of December last, he met with a Wreck at Sea, the Captain of which, whose Name is Patrick Galtaly, informs, That on the 17th of December, in his Passage from Virginia to Montrose in Scotland, in a violent Gale of Wind, the Vessel broach'd too, shipped a Sea, stove down her Quarter Deck, laid the Vessel upon her Broadside, so that they were obliged to cut away her Main mast, wash'd all the Men off the Deck, being 4 in Number, and when Capt. Campbell left her, she had 4 Feet Water in her Hold. The rest of the People, being the Captain, one Man, and two Boys, are brought into this Port.

BOSTON.

January 6. We hear that a few Days ago, a Vessel arrived at Marblehead from Malaga, in Spain, and that all the Hands are froze but one.

January 13. About ten Days ago, a Brig from Barbadoes, a Sloop from Antigua, and three other Vessels, came out of Cape Cod Harbour, all bound hither; but the Wind coming out at N. E. and blowing hard, with Snow, they were all cast away. The Antigua Sloop went ashore near Marshfield, and 'tis thought will be got off; three others are ashore near Plymouth, one of which is bilged, but the Barbadoes Brig not being heard of, it is thought she was cast away behind the Monument, and that the People are lost. Several of the Men belonging to the Vessels on shore, are said to be very much froze, having been up to their Necks in Water.

NEW-YORK.

February 3. Last Friday Night arrived here Capt. Lawrence from St. Augustine, in whom is come Passenger Capt. Shourt and his Mate, late of the Sloop Sarah, of this Port, from the Bay, of whom we have the following Account, viz. That they sailed from the Bay the 10th of August last, and a few Days after, met with a violent Gale of Wind, which held them some Time, at the End of which, they found themselves in the Bay of Mexico; from whence they were near three Weeks beating up to Cuba, the Vessel leaking all the while, so as to keep one Pump continually going. About the Middle of September, they were off the Matanzas, when another violent Gale took them, split their Mainsail to Pieces, and obliged them to go under their bare Poles; and after running thro' very imminent Danger, the Sea washing over them, and both Pumps going, they struck on a small Key near Cape Florida; they then took to their Boat, where they continued two Days without Water, rowing along thro' several Keys, to the Eastward: After being above two Weeks among the Keys, they got to the Martiers, where they were surrounded by 7 or 8 Canoes full of Indians, who took them all Prisoners, and would have sacrificed them, but were prevented by their King, till happily a Spanish Sloop coming there, the Captain, Mate, and one Man more, were rescued by them, and carried to St. Augustine. In the same Gale, a Ship from Jamaica for London, loaden with Rum and Sugar, was cast away on one of the Keys, and the Indians kept the remaining five of Capt. Shourt's Men to help to unload that Ship. He says the Indians were often so eager to kill them, notwithstanding their King's Orders, that they were frequently obliged to fly into the Bushes for Safety; the Indians looking on them as worse than so many Dogs.

PHILADELPHIA.

February 11. Saturday last one William Kerr was committed to the Jail of this City, on Suspicion of having counterfeited the Mill'd Pieces of Eight. There were several bad Ones found upon him, and a Receipt for the mixing of Metals. He pretends to be a Weaver, and says he lives at Bethlehem, in the Jerseys, with one William M'Cracken. The Pieces are cast in Sand, and are filed upon the Milling; they look very rough, are more of a Lead than Silver Colour, and sound like Brass.

March 3. Last Week arrived here Capt. Marshall, from Antigua, who, in Latitude 35 30 North, Longitude 65 20 West, spoke with Capt. Sprout, in a Sloop belonging to Norfolk, in Virginia, in great Distress; he had been 48 Days from St. Christophers for Norfolk, most of which Time beating upon this Coast under very hard Gales of Wind, which laid him twice on the Careen, by which his Loading shifted, and his Sails were tore to Pieces; his Hands mostly sick, and very short of Provisions. Capt. Marshall would have taken the People on board his Vessel, if the Weather would have permitted, but as it would not, he threw as much Beef, Bread, Candles, Twine, &c. into the Sloop, as would carry her to Bermuda, for which they made the best of their Way, having a Piece of a spare Jib for a Foresail.
